Hi I'm a mountain biker and my biggest wish for the new revision is that I don't lose access to biking in the Lionhead range. My second wish is that the plan doesn't cave and cater to those who move out here with money.

I understand that we need to do what is best environmentally for the area and the regions affected by our environment and with this area growing as fast as it is we need to be cautious to protect the land. Generally the people moving out here are because for recreation and those who move out here for seclusion. I'm judging without facts but most of the people who moved out here for seclusion have money, and I'm assuming, from what I have heard, that those people are pro-wilderness.

A large increase of wilderness areas would only increase home values of these big houses in those areas! Of course people who own those homes want wilderness and since they have money it is easy for them to cast influence in the area.

As a mountain biker I hope I don't completely lose access to my favorite trails but I understand there is a problem is e-bikes and bikers who are out of control. I do support more time share access on popular trails close to town because of that.

As mentioned early, most people currently live here for outdoor recreation and/or seclusion. I hope that the forest service doesn't step all over the people who move here for recreation because that would in-turn be supporting all the people that only care about their wallets.
