Comments:

As a life-long hiker and cyclist I highly value the wild places in our amazing state. Assuring access to these places is important to me. I have a great deal of respect for the organizations that created the Gallatin Forest Partnership. Their willingness to work together for the common good is commendable. I support the plan to continue to manage recommended wilderness areas to allow bicycles. I also support the continued access to the sections of the CDT and national recreation trails where mtn bike are currently allowed.

As I get older mountain bikes allow me to get to the wild lands I love and value. I may not go fast but I can get to places that lift my spirits -

Matt Jewett
