Please do not limit the use of packgoats in this area. The packgoat community is well aware of the claimed dangers that have yet been proven by any source of reliable science and some how got bulked into the same category as domestic sheep. We all test our animals, vaccinate, and care for them in the backcountry and would never allow them to even come close to a bighorn sheep. We all love the outdoors and this will truly damage life long traditions and memories that so many enjoy. Surely there is another way to do better research and really get to the bottom of this without just banning the packgoat community from the backcountry. I object shutting this are down to packgoats and can assure you that the packgoat community is extremely cautious, courteous, and avoid any wildlife contact with our goats. These are our babies and well taken care of. Not wild ran infected monsters running around the mountains. Thanks
