I am in favor of plan A- no action.

I do not believe it is in the best interest of the general public to keep expanding the amount of wilderness in our state. I can appreciate what we have but access is already a problem and the expansion would greatly compound that problem.

limiting access by way of expanding the wilderness areas will create a much higher impact and heavier use within the first few miles of wilderness trails.

And essentially robbing the less fit and older generation of enjoying our forest and mountains because they may not be able to hike but a short distance.

Even within non wilderness areas in the past 30 years I have seen massive closures of once accessible roads and trails.
